DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's submittal of an amendment was received on December 4, 2000; wherein Claims 1, 9 and 10 were amended.

Drawings

2. The proposed drawing correction and/or the proposed substitute sheets of drawings, filed on December 4, 2000 have been approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

4. Claims 1 and 5-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by VanOrder et al. (5,887,485). VanOrder discloses a sled system (See Fig. 3) for mounting a shift assembly to a vehicle having a sled (55) having a predetermined configuration (See Fig. 3), the sled being adapted to fit onto a vehicle floor pan (See column 3, lines 61-62), the sled including a first opening (See Fig. 3) for accepting a shift lever assembly (20); the shift lever assembly disposed within the first opening, the sled including a second opening (See Fig. 3) for accepting a brake lever assembly (6); the brake lever assembly disposed within the second opening; and a plurality of fasteners (See column 4, lines 15-17) for mounting the shift lever assembly and the brake lever to the sled; and a console (2) mounted to the sled; a console mounting bracket (See Fig. 3, the rear section of the sled 55) fixedly attached to the sled; a console member (2) mounted to the console mounting bracket; an instrument panel mounting bracket mounted to the sled (See Fig. 3, the front section of the sled 55); and wherein the sled system is assembled as a module (See Fig. 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over VanOrder et al. (5,887,485). VanOrder discloses a gear shift assembly mechanism as set forth in paragraph 4 above, but does not specifically disclose an automatic or manual transmission gear shift assembly. Examiner takes Official Notice that it is inherent that either an automatic or manual transmission could be used in the sled system console disclosed by VanOrder. Both types of transmissions are old and well known in the art, and a person of ordinary skill in the art would have the requisite skill to accommodate either a manual or an automatic transmission in the sled system console taught by VanOrder .

7. Claims 4, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over VanOrder et al. (5,887,485) in view of Knox, Jr. (4,077,276). VanOrder discloses a sled system (See Fig. 3) for mounting a shift assembly to a vehicle as set forth in paragraph 4 above, but does disclose wherein the sled includes a third opening including a transfer case shift lever assembly disposed in the third opening. VanOrder teaches a sled system console for a standard two-wheel drive vehicle that is not equipped with a transfer case to provide four-wheel drive capability. As disclosed in Knox, Jr., it is old and well known in the art to locate the transfer case shift lever in close proximity to the shift lever of the vehicle. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify the sled system console disclosed in VanOrder to incorporate the extra transfer case shift lever needed for a four-wheel drive vehicle by providing an additional third opening to accommodate the placement of the transfer case shift lever next to the transmission shift lever assembly. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide a premanufactured assembly of an integrated floor console which includes all of the controls normally associated with floor consoles of a four-wheel drive that is readily assembled to the vehicle during manufacture of the vehicle. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Knox, Jr. with VanOrder to obtain the invention as specified in Claims 4, 12 and 13.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Due to Applicant's amendments, Examiner has changed the grounds of rejections from Smith (5,970814) to VanOrder et al. (5,887,485) to meet the amended claim limitations.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
